

Protest Groups To Open Center

Peace and Freedom Associations, formed from anti-war, anti-draft and poor people's march sympathizers, will hold open house tomorrow at a new center at 1018 E. 6th St.

The 9 a.m. to 9 pm. event will honor Dr. Benjamin Spock, Mitchell Goodman, Michael Ferber and the Rev. William Sloane Coffin, who will be sentenced tomorrow in Boston for their anti-draft, anti-Vietnam war activities.

Operated by a five-member board, the center will offer members office space and facilities for meetings and mailings. PFA officials said the center will be financed by donations and will operate with volunteer workers.

Mitchel Axler, University of Arizona philosophy graduate student, is newly elected chairman. Other directors are Mrs. Esther Nix, treasurer; Mrs. Betsy McDonald, secretary; John Chesshir and Kevin Barry.

Affiliated with the new group are Tucson Peace Center,

Weekly Vigil for Peace, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, Tucson Committee to End the War in Vietnam, Campus Draft Opposition, UA Student Peace Association, UA Humanists, Tucson Draft Resistance and Tucson Students for a Democratic Society.
