

McDonald Giving AIAA Lectures

Dr. James E. McDonald, senior physicist in the University of Arizona's Institute of Atmospheric Physics, is serving as a lecturer for the 1968-69 Distinguished Lecture Series of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA).

His lecture on the "Impact of UFOs on the National Space Program" will be presented at AIAA section meetings during the next 10 months. McDonald recently opened the series in Chicago.